About the Conference

Modern scientific and technological developments are the result of collaborative efforts based on various aspects of science and engineering. For this, exchange of ideas among scientists and researchers belonging to different streams of science, technology and industry are necessary. In this regard, Physics department of Vellore Institute of Technology, Vellore is bringing up a unique opportunity for students and researchers to experience lectures/talks from experienced scientists from across the globe.

We are organizing a Virtual International Transdisciplinary Conference (VITC-2020) from 26th to 28th of August 2020, where speakers from different scientific expertise will share their knowledge and experience. As a virtual conference, we have the flexibility of inviting the experts from different area of research from all over the world, which is not easily possible at an in person event. The goal of VITC -2020 is to create an opportunity for the participants to think and collaborate in transdisciplinary subjects.
